THE CARVED IVORY MARKET.

TRADE DULL AND BIG STOCKS IN HONG KONG.

The Chinese are extremely skilful carvers and their ivory work is known the world over. This industry is mostly carried on in Canton and much of the output is sent here for transshipment to Europe and America. The volume of business done in a year used to amount to about two million dollars, of which about 80 per cent. was for America and 20 per cent. for Europe. But during the last two years there has been a big decline and business has been reduced to an insignificant figure. This was owing to the competition of Japanese ivory but their work is inferior to that of the Chinese. The factor in their favour, however, is cheapness and they have captured a large portion of the America market. The local market is very dull at present and many of the Chinese dealers have suffered great loss. Stocks in the Colony are very heavy because exporters are unable to ship them abroad in face of Japanese competition. Ivory is divided into two main grades—large tusk and small tusk. The present market quotation for large tusk ivory is $1,000 per picul and $600 per picul for small tusk.

MATTING TRADE IN HONG KONG.

Chinese grass matting is also known the world over. This industry is mostly carried on in Lintan, Tungkuon and Cochinchina where the raw material is obtained. Matting is imported into the Colony for transshipment and the business is an important export. The total volume of business done in a year amounts to nearly one million dollars, of which about half is with America while the remainder is sent to Singapore and other British ports. Raw materials are scarce at present, owing to the drought, and prices have advanced. The Lintan products are the best and fetch the highest price while those from Tungkuon and Cochinchina are of a far inferior quality. Business in this line at present is very dull.

Baby A Pitiful Object From Eczema Cuticura Healed

"From three months old to six months my baby was a pitiful little object due to eczema. It appeared on his head and face in a rash. His skin was inflamed and itched and burned so that I could not keep his hands down. The condition gradually grew worse, and when I bathed him he would scream with pain. I had to make a cap for his head and put gloves on his hands. He could not sleep night or day and his face was a sight."

A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and in three months he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Ada Marston, 49, Ecclestone St., Clayton, Man., Eng.

"CANDIDA."

MACDONA PLAYERS' FINE PRESENTATION.

Perhaps no greater tribute could be paid to Miss Joan Hopegood's presentation of the title part of Shaw's "Candida" at the Theatre Royal last night than to say that she reminded one of Sybil Thorneycroft.

With the memory fresh in my mind of the early performance of the play at the Kingsway Theatre in London, I was keenly interested in the Macdonna Players' presentation. Despite obvious handicaps in the matter of scenery and general settings, the talented company are to be congratulated upon having given a remarkably artistic rendition of the play in a manner quite up to the standard of London productions.

Artistic "Exaggerations."

"G.B.S." makes strenuous demands upon powers of interpretation and is able to counteract any seeming excess of farce by casual interjections of common place remarks.

Reference to Brian as Eugene Marchbanks, the neurotic and poetical son of a wealthy peer, handled a difficult part with marked success. His egotistical and passionate declarations of love for Candida (Joan Hopegood), the young wife of the Rev. James Mavor Morell (Stanley Drewitt), were quite in accordance with the spirit of the plot and ably interpreted Shaw's intended "tilt" at that section of modern youth—fortunately, a very small section—who spend their days looking for "soul-mates"—always among the opposite sex, of course!

Marchbanks not only caused the worthy Vicar to doubt his own soul, but left him tortured with doubt as to whether he could really hold Candida's love. Thus we saw a contest between a man lost in the mists of Socialism and Theology and a Youth whose soul dwelt in a poetic world apart from his fellows.

Solving A Problem.

The problem as to which would win the love and esteem of Candida was solved in a remarkably matter-of-fact manner by the young lady herself who proved that the physically and mentally stronger of the two was yet the weakest, and most needed her protection.

The poet, she decided, had always continued to exist without the desired "soul-mate" and was therefore more able to survive without her protection than that other "spoilt boy," her husband.

Stanley Drewitt's brilliant performance was closely seconded by A. S. Homewood who caused many a laugh as Mr. Burgess, a building contractor and the father of Candida.

Joan Blair, as Miss Prosperine Garnett, the prudish secretary of the Vicar, was exceedingly funny and she deserved the enthusiastic applause awarded her performance. Frederick Keen also portrayed the Rev. Alexander Mill (the curate) with success.

TEMPLE RUINS IN CENTRAL ASIA.

FINDS BY GERMAN ARCHEOLOGIST.

ANCIENT GREEK-BUDDHIST CULTURE.

Berlin, December 13th (U.P.).—After severe hardships and perilous Himalayan ascents, the German explorer, Dr. Emil Trinkler, has returned from his year-and-a-half's travels in Central Asia. As a reception given in his honour in Bremen, Dr. Trinkler described the valuable findings which his expedition made in the fields of history, science and art.

The journey started from Cashmir at the foot of the Himalayas. During 13 months, the German explorers pushed their way across mountain-passes, all at an altitude of 17,000 feet or more. Using caravans, they traversed vast desert expanses.

The most important scientific findings were made in the Takla-Makaz desert, where the Germans remained for four months, digging out ancient villages which had been buried during sandstorms. These excavations revealed temple ruins, valuable works of sculpture and amorettes, mostly characteristic of the era of Greek-Buddhist culture. This civilization arose between 300 B.C. and 1000 A.D. and was swept into Central Asia from North-western India.

The Germans brought with them significant relics of the eighth century, notably manuscripts, textiles and paintings. During their geological researches, they ascertained that huge glaciers had descended upon and covered Central Asia in pre-historic ages.

Relics of the expedition will be presented to the Bremen municipal museum.

Dr. Trinkler, on his return, spoke highly of the assistance rendered him and his companions by the British authorities in India. He complained bitterly, however, regarding the attitude of Chinese officials who he said, had placed many difficulties in the expedition's path and attempted to prevent removal of the relics. Dr. Trinkler said that the Chinese difficulties were surmounted only after the German legation in Peking had intervened.

ELECTION WAGERS COMEDY.

$100,000 AND TWO HATS.

LADY HOUSTON'S CHALLENGE.

The Home Secretary now stands to lose two hats if the Conservatives fail to win the general election. This was his reply to Lord Rothermere's offer to translate the original wager of a hat into a money bet of $100 to $10—an offer which led Lady Houston to offer Lord Rothermere "The same bet in thousands," which means $100,000 to $10,000 (or possibly $10,000 to $1,000 if "the same bet" merely indicates the odds).

The challenge arises out of the statement of the Home Secretary to the Ladies' Imperial Club that if the Conservative party lost the election he would lose a new hat to Lord Rothermere. "But," Sir William, added, "such is my confidence in the Conservative party that I am prepared to double the bet." As soon as reports of the Home Secretary's speech were published, Lord Rothermere suggested to him that the bet should be in money instead of hats, and offered $100 to $10 that the Conservatives would not obtain a majority at the general election.

Lady Houston threw out her challenge to Lord Rothermere in the following communication to the press: "Having read that Lord Rothermere has offered to bet the Home Secretary $100 to $10 that the Conservatives do not get a majority at the next general election, Lady Houston presents her compliments to Lord Rothermere and wishes to know if his lordship is willing to make the same bet with Lady Houston in thousands."

Lord Rothermere then sent the following telegram to the Home Secretary: "Regarding your offer to double your bet with me of a hat that the Conservatives win the next general election, suppose we make it money instead of hats and that you accept a bet from me of $100 to $10 that the Conservatives do not have a majority as a result of the general election next year. Sir W. Joynton-Hicks replied: "Many thanks for your sporting offer but I do not make money bets. But to show that I am an equal opponent with yourself I will bet you two hats to one that we beat you and MacDonald and Lloyd George put together."

Lord Rothermere's Reply. "Lord Rothermere" (says a statement issued on his behalf last night regarding Lady Houston's challenge) "has not the pleasure of the acquaintance of Lady Houston, and he never makes bets with strangers. He is not making any more bets on the election."

A beautiful, powerful and absorbing drama of modern life, containing some of the most remarkable acting ever presented on the screen!

THE WOMAN'S CORNER.

THE STEPMOTHER.

It is surely one of the most difficult and delicate tasks in the world that a woman can be asked to undertake—that of succeeding to another woman's throne, in the vacant kingdom of her home, and making a success of her reign.

The stepmother often begins her career in an atmosphere of suspicion and prejudice. Her new family are jealously watching her every action, her new husband—however loyal and devoted he may be—must inevitably be making comparisons in his own mind. Even the servants are summing her up and judging. As in the case of the mother-in-law, the stepmother is suffering from centuries of misrepresentation. As soon as it can read she is held up to every child as an object of ridicule—always unkind and sometimes cruel. In many fairy stories, where she is supposed to have children of her own, she is always represented as tyrannising over her husband's beautiful daughters, and favouring her own ugly ones—as in the story of Cinderella. Small wonder, then, that children who have had the misfortune to lose their own mother are not prepared to welcome a substitute for her with open arms.

Still, the difficult task can be, and often is, carried through successfully. Given tact, a good heart, and a capability to see other people's point of view, it is possible for a second wife to make a very happy home.

"Advance slowly" is a very good motto to take. Every alteration she is tempted to make should be well thought over, and very deliberately carried through. The confidence of her new family cannot be forced—it must be earned, like their affection. It is better, if her age allows it to begin by being "elder sisterly" rather than motherly.

FASCINATING SLEEVES

Broche velvet makes this evening wrap which has a collar of white stranded velvet. The new elbow sleeves are very decorative.

LUXURIOUS WINTER COAT.

A new afternoon coat, fashioned in black velvet and trimmed with blue fox fur, shown at a recent winter dress show, will be coveted by many women. Cut on long, straight lines, the coat is trimmed with lines of black silk braid, arranged in a scroll pattern. The fur appears on the hem and cuffs, and makes a new collar line, being swathed tightly round the neck and fastened by the people who buy their jewels.

GERMANY'S POLICE WOMEN.

AN IMPORTANT TITLE.

Prussia's new budget foresees the employment of 150 feminine police officials, ranging from expert criminologists to police counsellors.

Three of the women in Prussia's police force bear the ominous German title of "Polizeigefängnis-schaupflichtmeisterinnen." This title must be used by subordinates in addressing the three women-officials—a rule, which critics assert is an incentive to insubordination. The tongue-twisting title means "chief guard of the police jail."

An additional 48 women among the Prussian police will have their ponderous dignity enhanced by being known as "Polizeigefängnis-schaupflichtmeisterinnen," which denotes a similar but slightly less authoritative position in the police force.

In Germany, observance of titles is an iron-clad custom and there is none of the camaraderie, prevalent among American police, which permits a subordinate to address his superior as "Hey, chief."

The Frankfurter Zeitung, while welcoming the increased employment of women in the police establishment, expresses regret that these ladies should be clothed with such unbecoming titles.

THE NEW JEWELLERY.

Afternoon and evening jewels are perfectly charming. Even the simulated stones and their settings are designed with so much care that they are often distinctly expensive; but it is possible to find necklaces, bracelets, and brooches of carved glass which are very effective and make a delightful finish to a simple frock.

It is also comforting to those of us who were never completely infatuated by artificial pearls to find that the exquisite semi-precious stones are being respected as they deserve.

Semi-Precious Stones. Jade has never been completely ignored; but the rosy tourmaline, the misty blue chalcodony, aquamarine in all its blue and sea-green tones, chrysoprase, malachite and rose quartz, have been neglected shamefully by the majority of jewellers, though perhaps it would be more accurate to say—by the people who buy their jewels.

HALF-A-MILLION NEW STARS.

REVEALED BY NEW TELESCOPE.

THE LARGEST IN THE WORLD.

Sir Frank Dyson, the Astronomer-Royal, is interested in the new telescope to be erected near Mount Wilson, California. Astronomers anticipate that the instrument will bring 500,000 new stars within range of their cameras. The power of the giant telescope is said to be about ten times greater than that of the world's present largest telescope—the Hooker telescope.

The new instrument will have a reflector of 200 inches in diameter.

The advice of experts all over the world has been placed at the disposal of my friend, Dr. George Ellery Hale, a former director of the Mount Wilson Observatory, who is chairman of the council which will direct the work of erecting the telescope," said Sir Frank Dyson to a London Evening Standard representative.

Thirty Tons Of Quartz.

"Some idea of what may be expected of the new telescope may be grasped from the fact that with the Hooker telescope Mr. Hubble, the astronomer, was able to ascertain that the Nebula of Andromeda, the light of which takes 1,000,000 years to reach the earth, was a system of stars, similar in many ways to the Milky Way—in fact, another island universe. He was able to measure the diameter of certain stars that were previously out of range.

"This will be the first attempt to use fused quartz in making telescope reflectors. The use of quartz is a great advantage, because it is unaffected by changes of temperature such as effect the usefulness of glass and other materials. It will be necessary to use a block of fused quartz weighing 30 tons.

Dr. W. H. Steavenson, the astronomer, in an interview said, "It will take many years to obtain the piece of quartz required. A piece only one foot in diameter is all that has been obtained so far.

"Light from the most distant nebulae that can be seen with the Hooker telescope takes 142,000,000 years to reach the earth. The new telescope will enable us to penetrate still further into space."

The International Education Board, founded by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, which is providing the funds for the erection of the new telescope, recently offered $700,000 to Cambridge University for the University Library and for development in agriculture, biology and physics.

YOUNG GIRL'S DEATH.

MISS H. M. SILVA.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the death occurred at No. 18, Granville Road, Kowloon, of Hilda Maria Silva, aged 13, the eldest daughter of Mr. Carlos Silva, of the Hong Kong Electric Company. It is understood that the deceased was suffering from diphtheria.

The funeral took place in the afternoon in the presence of relatives and a large number of friends at the Roman Catholic Cemetery. In addition to the family wreaths, there were many floral tributes from sympathisers.

KIDNAPPED GIRL STABS BRIGAND.

21 COMPANIONS IN BANDIT HANDS.

Mexico, December 16th.—One of the twenty-two girls who were kidnapped from the town of Jicotepec, in the State of Jalisco, last week, has been found hiding among undergrowth by a party searching the foothills of Mount Colima. She had received a number of knife wounds.

The bandits descended on Jicotepec with dynamite bombs and trapped practically the whole population in a cinema hall.

Thrown Across A Horse.

The girl states that she was carried away by the leader of the bandits, being thrown across his horse. When the party had ridden some miles the leader called a halt; to which some of the men objected, and the dispute reached a point where revolvers were drawn.

She felt the hilt of a knife in the chief's belt, snatched it and stabbed him in the back. He fell, and she started to gallop off while the other bandits buried knives at her. One buried itself in the horse, which bolted. The girl rode on until she fell from exhaustion.

Fifty different parties are searching the district, but beyond finding the horse on which the girl escaped, scarcely any trace has been found of the kidnappers.

"THE WAY OF ALL FLESH."

AN EPIC OF "FACE PIDGIN" AT THE QUEEN'S.

EMIL JANNINGS IN A GERMAN TRAGEDY.

[BY OUR FILM CRITIC.]

If you are an admirer of the sorrowfully sentimental compositions of certain German authors and musicians go to the Queen's and see "The Way of All Flesh." If you love to weep, go to the Queen's and you will probably return the next day to weep again.

Emil Jannings, the famous German film star and director, has in "The Way of All Flesh," a picture in which he is wed to give full play to his national feelings. By that I do not mean that it is in any way a propagandist film but that it is, despite the setting of America, typically German in every respect.

The story is an epic of "Face-Pidgin." August Schiller is in his early middle age as respected by his family and his employers as he is by himself. He is the model of uprightness and expects every one else to be the same, in fact he is twin brother to the worthy plati-tudinous father of the "Swiss Family Robinson." The father of a large family of small children he rouses them out of bed in the morning, personally inspects behind their ears, reads the Bible to them, and gathers them around him for the family concert in the evening.

Then August Schiller is sent to Chicago by the manager of the bank where he works, being entrusted with a packet of valuable bonds to sell in that city. On the way he falls in with Mayme (Phyllis Hower), who tells him how young, handsome and clever he is, persuades him to shave off his beard, introduces him to the beer gardens of Chicago, and finally robs him of his bonds—and his self-esteem.

Rather than loose face among those whose respect he values by owning up, although of course he puts it on the level of not disgracing his family, Schiller prepares to commit suicide. Then he sees a newspaper account to the effect that his body, unidentifiable except by the personal contents of the pockets has been found, and that he has died the death of a hero in defending the money entrusted to him. Once more "face-pidgin" forbids him to disturb the "hero's" grave, and we follow him for the rest of the picture getting older, shabbier, and more sentimental, until the final scene when he looks in the window of his old home, sees his family, now grown up, gathered round the festive board on Christmas evening, and shuffles off into the night.

Audiences And Borrowers Of The Unattractive.

Mr. Jannings acts well and his "make up" of his face and his whole physical appearance is a triumph. But it is always a question if, with the exception of a few people, audiences are really interested in this type of "sob stuff." It may be very wrong and inartistic, but most of us can follow the sufferings of a handsome young man or a charming young lady with real sympathy, while those of a dirty old man, whose sorrows are after all caused by his former self righteousness, are inclined to leave us cold.

The rest of the cast is good although they only have small parts to play, and the opening sequences of the family life of the Schiller's are interesting because of the real picture they give of a German home in pre-war days.

INDIAN CONSTABLE CHARGED.

ALLEGED CHEATING OF FELLOW COUNTRYMEN.

CHASED ALL OVER KOWLOON.

An Indian constable, No. 555, stationed at the Water Police Station, was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy with larceny of $25.00 the property of a private in the Punjab Regiment. Mr. L. H. C. Calthrop, A.S.P., Kowloon, prosecuted.

Outlining the facts of the case, Mr. Calthrop said that two sepoys from the Punjab Regiment met the defendant at Haiphong Road at about 3 p.m. on Monday last. The defendant, who was off duty at the time, asked them what they intended doing, and they replied that they were going to buy some clothing. The defendant said that as a policeman he could get things much cheaper than shop price. They handed him $25.00 and the defendant walked into a tailor's shop. He walked right through the premises and into the alleyway at the back.

The complainant and his friend happened to see the defendant in the alleyway through another shop and immediately became suspicious. They went along Haiphong Road into Nathan Road and chased the defendant, who ran down Nathan Road into Peking Road, and then along Hankow Road. He turned along Middle Road and was overtaken in Nathan Road. The defendant suggested that they should go to the Police Station and the party then proceeded along Salisbury Road, but instead of heading for the Station, the defendant took them along Hankow Road. Near the Star Theatre, there was "a scene" and an Indian Sergeant appeared on the scene and the men were taken to the Police Station.

There the defendant handed the money over to the officer on duty. The Magistrate adjourned the case until this morning intimating that an officer from the Punjab Regiment should be present in Court.

OWNERSHIP OF A PIG DECIDED.

RESULT OF AN "IDENTIFICATION PARADE."

The dispute between two villagers of Kowloon Tong over the ownership of a sow was decided at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when Mr. E. W. Hamilton, found that the complainant was the real owner of the "identification parade" had been held.

At the first hearing, the complainant had stated in evidence that his pig had a white mark on its forehead. This statement was corroborated by two witnesses.

At the Magistrate's suggestion, Inspector Hoare carried out an identification parade, and gathered together 34 pigs, of which 25 had a white spot on their foreheads. The complainant and his two witnesses picked out the sow without hesitation. The defendant also picked out the sow, but his wife failed to do so. The defendant's father picked out the sow after some hesitation.

The Magistrate remarked that he supposed the pig was fairly well known as it was in the Court compound on the day of the first hearing.

Mr. C. E. L. Grist, who appeared on behalf of the defendant said that he had no case to answer. The sow was just as likely to be the property of the defendant as the complainant. The novel test carried out by the police went, he thought, in favour of his client.

Commenting on the identification parade, his Worship, said that both sides agreed to have done fairly well, but he had noticed one thing. Whereas the pig had been in the defendant's possession since January 1st, it had not, according to the defendant, been in the complainant's possession at all. He could not see how the complainant could have identified the pig unless it had been his property.

The complainant had produced two witnesses, but the only evidence for the defendant was that his father knew that a pig was sent down from Swatow and that he saw it before it left that port. The father had identified the pig but after some hesitation.

The Magistrate also remarked that there were eight young pigs at the complainant's house and nothing else. In his Worship's opinion a man did not keep young pigs without keeping a sow.

He was convinced that the pig belonged to the complainant, but he was inclined to think that the pig had strayed and the defendant yielded to the temptation of keeping it as he owned other pigs.

He would give him the option of a fine of $50 with the alternative of one month's hard labour.

FLOODS IN MALAYA.

AUXILIARY SERVICE ON THE RAILWAY.

Kuala Lumpur, January 2nd.—There was heavy rain in Kuala Lumpur and the Ulu last night as a result of which the river rose several feet. The flood warning was sounded, but the water subsided fairly quickly.

The Karak-Mentakah Road, which was flooded in places, has now been repaired and is open to traffic.

The Railway department reports that the floods in Pahang have subsided a great deal although the damage to the line will not enable normal service to be resumed immediately. An auxiliary service between Kuala Lumpur and Kuala Lipis was started to-day. The river is down considerably at Kuala Lipis and for the time being all danger is over, and the services should be resumed as soon as the track has been investigated. The lines are almost clear of water except in a few places. The F.M.S. Railways cannot guarantee to make connections with the local services and the main line services from Kuala Lipis and German. Effort is being made where possible to connect stations, but it is doubtful whether this can be done in some places. A slight accident occurred between Kuala Lipis and Padang Tunku when a ballast engine left the line and came to rest on the loosened embankment. No serious injuries were caused either to the driver or the firemen.

Serious Washaway.

Ipo, January 3rd.—A rather alarming washaway occurred on the busy Ipo-Batu Gajah Road last night when 100 feet of the main road at the 63rd mile owing to the collapse of the embankment suddenly slid into a big lombeing 40 feet deep.

Five coolies promptly warned off cars, but one hire Chevrolet mistaking the stop signal for robbers dashed through. The driver and two passengers escaped, but one passenger and the car are still under the water.

Storm At Kuala Lumpur.

A violent gale accompanied by thunder and lightning raged over Kuala Lumpur last night between 8.30 and 9. Rain fell heavily and the river rose considerably causing great apprehension among those living in the low-lying parts along the river banks, portions of which were already submerged.

Careful watch was kept on the river, but owing to the recent straightening of some of the worst bends the water flowed off rapidly, rendering the possibility of a flood in town remote.

After a blockage of eleven days it is expected that the main trunk road traffic to Penang from the south will be resumed to-day across the Perak River over Enggor pontoon bridge, the last section of which was being replaced yesterday. The other crossing, into Sikuawan at Blanja ferry was reopened yesterday afternoon.

PRESS CENSORSHIP
IN CANTON.ACTS OF BANDITRY KEPT
SECRET.CLOSE WATCH FOR COM-MUNISTS.

MORE PROPAGANDA FOUND.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, Jan. 9th.

The Police have forbidden the vernacular Press to publish any more news about banditry in the city unless until it has been approved by the Central Police Station. The Police have of late been complaining about the local newspapers publishing the names of Communists and other outlaws. There has been for some time a ban on publishing the news of the arrests of Communists or the raiding of their dens. But accounts of the apprehending of ordinary or non-Communist criminals have been allowed to appear. Since it is very hard to draw the line between a Communist and an ordinary bandit, mistakes were liable to occur. Very often reporters mentioned the names of Communists but merely classed them as bandits, thus evading the censorship. The papers would describe the "sensational chase and arrest of bandits," and give the names of the desperadoes. The result was that the rest of the Communist gang would abscond.

Now to facilitate the arrest of all Communists the Police think it better not to have any news of ordinary banditry published in the newspapers unless the event has taken place long ago and the publication is passed by the Police. This prevents any danger of confusion between Communists and the ordinary bandit.

THE ANNAMITES.

Following the arrest of the nine Annamites about a fortnight ago in Canton, their quarters have been closed and sealed by the Canton Garrison. Two other places where suspected Annamites met and gathered have been similarly raided. A search revealed great quantities of Russian, English and French propaganda. But the whole thing has been kept so secret that the Press still have no knowledge of the contents of the documents. According to information from military circles the arrested Annamites are suspected of disturbing public peace and order but they are not genuine Communists. They are now in the hands of the Canton Garrison who are sifting the whole matter. Unless the men are proved Communists they will be released.

GOVERNOR OF MACAO IN CANTON.

A PRIVATE VISIT.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, January 9th.

The Governor of Macao, Senhor Tamagui Barboza and Madame Barboza are visiting Canton on private business, the report being that Madame Barboza wishes to consult a German medical specialist in Canton. There was no ceremony connected with his arrival, and in fact, the local authorities did not expect His Excellency. He paid a private visit to the Canton Foreign Commissioner yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock, and also visited Mr. Fung Cho Man, Commissioner of Finance, and other Canton notables. Senhor Barboza was to lunch with Dr. Chao Hsin Chu and Mr. Fung Cho Man at the Foreign Office and he and Madame Barboza are expected to return to Macao later in the day.

AIR SERVICE FOR LIANG
KWANG PROVINCES.

EIGHT CENTRES SELECTED.

According to a lengthy account published yesterday in the local Chinese press an aviation service, for mails only, is to be started for Kwangtung and Kwangsi by the Canton Aviation Bureau early next month. Four centres have been chosen for each province. For Kwangtung, Canton, Swatow, Suichow and Hing Ning; for Kwangsi, Wuchow, Liuchow, Nanning and Kweilin. The service will be maintained, it is stated, by two seaplanes.

STILL DEEPER
DARKNESS.ANGRY CANTON MER-CHANTS.DESERTED STREETS AND SHOPS CLOSED.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, January 9th.

A large part of Canton, including Sai Kwan, the city's main business quarter, is still suffering nightly from the constant failure of the electric lights. For some unknown reason the electricity in Canton has been utterly unreliable for the past ten days. At the beginning the lights went out only for short intervals. But the periods of darkness have increased in length and in frequency until last night there were no electric lights at all in several places from sunset almost to midnight. The general speculation is how long it will be before the entire city is in darkness all night long. There is no trouble with the current in the day time; it is only at night when it fails.

When our correspondent walked through the principal thoroughfares of Sai Kwan and other busy sections of the city last night, he saw that most of the shops had shut their iron gates at an unusually early hour—especially the jewellery shops, watch and clock stores, jade shops, electric shops and silk and embroidery stores. These stores dare not risk being open when the lights are liable to go out owing to the ubiquitous "crooked people" who thrive in the dark.

Noticably fewer people were in the streets of Sai Kwan last night. No well dressed ladies were to be seen after 8 o'clock in the evening and indeed the few pedestrians were mostly men of the working class.

A MATTER OF COURSE.

One of the officials of the big cinema in Sap Bat Po Street remarked to our correspondent: "No electricity, no show." But the smaller merchants were doing business as usual by candles, kerosene and gasoline lamps. No little confusion occurred ten days ago when the electric light first began to go wrong, but they are so accustomed to it now that they get their candles and kerosene or gasoline lamps ready each evening as a matter of course.

All this has at least meant a big boom for dealers in candles, kerosene, gasoline and all forms of non-electric lamps, but no one else is pleased. The merchants are now getting together to petition the Government to bring pressure to bear upon the Canton Power and Light Company which is responsible for the efficient lighting of Canton.

NETHERLANDS FLAGSHIP
IN HONG KONG.ADMIRAL'S OFFICIAL LANDING.

The fine Dutch cruiser Java, flying the flag of Rear-Admiral A. ten Broeke Hoekstra arrived in the harbour at 10 a.m. yesterday, the customary salutes being exchanged with the port.

The Admiral accompanied by Captain A. F. H. Halhuysen, in command of the Java, and his Flag-Lieutenant, Lieut. Comdr. P. J. Feteris and the Netherlands Consul-General, Mr. M. J. Quist, who had already repaired to board, landed at noon at Queen's Pier.

On landing the visitors were received by Captain A. J. L. Whyte, R.E., A.D.C. to H.E. the Officer Administering the Government, and a Guard of Honour, from the Queen's Regt., under Major H. C. E. Hull, D.S.O., gave the salute. The Band of the Queen's was also in attendance and played the Dutch National Anthem.

Lieut.-Col. H. G. Ponsonby, D.S.O., M.C., Commanding Officer of the Queen's was in command and, with Admiral Hoekstra, inspected the Guard of Honour. The visitors then proceeded by car to Government House where they were received by H.E. the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, C.M.G., and later returned to the Java.

H.E. the Officer Administering the Government returned the visit later and was accorded the usual salute of 17 guns on leaving the Dutch warship.

The Java is to stay here six days and arrangements as to entertaining the arrival yesterday evening of H.E. Sir Cecil Clementi. The cruiser attended the Coronation Review in Japan and was also at Nanking for the New Year military review held by the Chinese National Government. On leaving here the Java will proceed to Sourabaya where the Admiral will resume his command of the Naval Department of the Netherlands East Indies. The Java is a new cruiser of 7,500 tons and has a complement of 39 officers and 600 men.

ROUND THE COURTS.

WOMAN HAWKER WRONGLY CHARGED.

CENTRAL MAGISTRACY CASES.

"How dare you arrest this woman! She has a licence for a whole year. Now you will have to pay her $1 as compensation out of your own pocket."

These words were addressed by Mr. R. E. Lindsell, the Senior Magistrate, to a Chinese constable at whose instance a woman was charged with hawking without a licence. His Worship found that the licence was a free one issued to the woman in October last and good for one year.

Continuing, his Worship told Sergeant Hallam that this did not speak highly for the intelligence of the officer who took down the charge at the No. 7 Police Station.

Sergeant Hallam replied that he did not take the charge himself. He went on to explain that in order to simplify matters for the police the issuing office usually stamped the year of expiry on the licence. The absence of the stamp in this case might have misled the constable.

His Worship: That is no concern of mine. There is the date starting you in the face, and the words "for one year only."

ANOTHER KIND OF HAWKER.

A Chinese who was charged with hawking without a licence told Mr. Lindsell that the licence was taken away from him by Sub-Inspector Dickinson in November. Remarking that he was talking nonsense, the officer was dead at the time, his Worship fined him $5.

His Worship observed later that the man used crutches and was a cripple. Instructions were then given to make further enquiries at the licensing office.

Inspector Field appeared in Court and told the Magistrate that the defendant was given a licence to hawk cigarettes in March, 1927. Between that time and August of the same year the defendant was convicted four times for selling other goods besides cigarettes. The licence was then cancelled by the Captain Superintendent of Police, but later the man was given a chance. Finally it was cancelled a second time in November last year when he repeated the offence.

Addressing the defendant, his Worship said that he had deliberately disobeyed the provisions of his licence, and this in spite of the fact that he had been given a chance. The fine would be $50 the next time.

BANISHEE'S EXTRAORDINARY EXCUSE.

Charged with returning to the Colony while he was serving a banishment order, a Chinese told Mr. Lindsell that his presence here was due to the unfortunate circumstances that the junk on which he was travelling broke one of its masts and was forced to come here for repairs. Further, that he intended to return for Chinese Affairs to get permission to stay in the Colony for 24 hours while the junk was under repair.

A Chinese detective stated that he "picked the accused up" near the Shaukiwan market on information received that he was often seen there. At the time of the arrest nothing was mentioned about a junk with a broken mast, but the witness understood from the defendant that he had come here to dispose of some sweet potatoes.

A remand was given until this morning, the police being directed to take the defendant to Shaukiwan where the junk was stated to be undergoing repairs and report the result.

AN UNLAWFUL SOCIETY.

Mr. T. Murphy, A.S.P., made an application before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy for an order for confiscation of property seized under the Societies Ordinance.

In the witness-box he said that the things seized, a list of which was produced, were taken in the course of a police raid at midnight on November 23rd on the second floor of No. 81, Connaught Road West, the administrative premises of the Teahouse Waiters' Guild. A notification proscribing the guild as an unlawful society had appeared in the Government Gazette on November 23rd, 1928, and notices in Chinese had also been posted on the premises, but no claims have been made for any of the property seized.

His Worship made the confiscation order.

WATCHMAKER AND PAWNBROKER.

Mr. C. A. S. Russ appeared before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy on behalf of a Chinese, whom he described as a respectable watchmaker.

The man was charged with giving a wrong address when pawning six watches on next column.

STRAITS $10 NOTES.

MORE ALLEGED FORGERIES
SEIZED.

MAN TRAPPED BY POLICE.

Another forged note case—the third recently in which $10 treasury notes of the Straits Settlements are alleged to have been imitated—opened before Major C. Willson at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

The proceedings concerned a Chinese named Chan Muk who is charged with conspiracy to utter forged notes. A woman is also involved in a charge arising out of the same case, but hearing was adjourned until next week.

On evidence being called, a Chinese detective stated that, acting on certain information received, he approached the defendant as a purchaser of Straits Settlements notes. Witness received a ten dollar note on payment of $4 Hong Kong currency. A bargain was then made for the supply of $1,000 worth of the notes, the price agreed being $33 for every $100 worth. The defendant, however, stated that he would have to go to Canton to get the notes.

On December 21st, continued witness, he met the defendant again when a promise was made to supply the notes on the following day. Defendant was then told that witness was staying at the Yuet Wa boarding house in Yaumatei and it was arranged to meet there. The defendant came at 9 p.m. At 9.15 p.m. a woman arrived, but after a short absence she returned to the boarding house with 31 notes. These were offered to the witness as a part of the order. A signal was then given to police officers waiting outside to enter the room.

Further evidence disclosed that the detective who had posed as the buyer was also arrested at the same time in order to keep up the deception.

Sub-Inspector Carey gave evidence of finding the 31 notes on the woman. When defendant was searched he had tied to his waist a bundle of notes (worthless imitations) wrapped in Chinese paper.

The case was adjourned until this morning.

watches at a pawnshop in Shaukiwan, and on a further count of obtaining $10 on a false pretence by offering a brass watch as gold.

Mr. Russ stated that the watches were the property of the defendant. On the other charge he suggested that the defendant did not tell the pawnbroker that the watch was made of gold, and the latter had taken it for what he thought it was worth.

The hearing was adjourned, bail being fixed at $200.

KOWLOON COURT CASES.

STARTED AT ELEVEN YEARS OLD.

A Chinese named Chan Wing, with a criminal record dating back to 1905 when he was eleven years of age, and totalling 27 convictions, was before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. The defendant was arrested on a charge of larceny of several articles of clothing belonging to a Chinese living at No. 18, Shing Li Road. The defendant was arrested with the garments in his possession.

He was sentenced to six months' hard labour.

The man's last conviction, some six months ago, was for attempting to raid No. 238, Nathan Road, when he was chased and caught by Mr. Arthur Brown, the Recreio footballer. He was sentenced to six months' hard labour for that indiscretion and has only recently been released from gaol.

TWO BANISHEES RETURN.

Two Chinese who were charged with returning from banishment were sentenced, the one to three months' hard labour and 15 strokes of the birch, and the other to 12 months' hard labour. The banishment had been for life and for a period of ten years respectively.

RAILWAY TRESPASSERS.

Two Chinese were charged at the instigation of the Kowloon Canton Railway authorities before Mr. E. W. Hamilton with being found in a covered wagon belonging to the Railway. It was stated that there was no suggestion that the men were there for any unlawful purpose but the danger of fire led to the prosecution. The defendants were fined $10 with the alternative of 14 days' hard labour.

AUTOMATIC PISTOL AND AM-MUNITION CONFISCATED.

On the application of Sergeant Riddell, Mr. E. W. Hamilton ordered the confiscation of an automatic pistol and 87 rounds of ammunition which were found unclaimed by the chief officer of the s.s. Talma.

ALLEGED PARTNERS AT
LOGGERHEAD.THE VALIDITY OF A NOTE
QUESTIONED."NOVEL METHOD OF DISSOLV-ING PARTNERSHIP."

A case which, Mr. F. X. d'Almada, snr., described as a novel method of seeking the dissolution of partnership, was heard yesterday at the Summary Court before Mr. Justice P. Jacks.

The plaintiff was Sin Fook, trading as the Wo Fat firm and the Wo Shing firm and the defendant, Chan Yick Mi, managing partner of the Fook Mee firm. The claim was for $740 due under four Chinese promissory notes.

Mr. Horace Lo appeared for the plaintiff and the defendant was represented by Mr. F. X. d'Almada, snr.

Opening the case, Mr. Lo said that the defendant was personally known to the plaintiff for a number of years, and they became more closely acquainted when plaintiff's wife fell sick. The loan was made to the defendant for his own use.

He understood that the defence would be that plaintiff was a partner in defendant's firm. This the plaintiff would deny. He also understood that Mr. d'Almada would raise another defence, which had not been disclosed.

Mr. d'Almada interposed. He said that his defence would be that the plaintiff was a partner in the Fook Mee firm, and that being the case, the plaintiff was seeking a novel method of dissolving the partnership.

Plaintiff then gave evidence as to lending the money and receiving the notes for them. At this stage the validity of one of the notes was questioned by Mr. d'Almada. He pointed out to his Lordship that the date on the note was February 18th, 1928. That was the day when the money was actually lent, but the note was not given until sometime afterwards, the stamp date being April 18th.

Mr. d'Almada then submitted that the note was not valid because it must be stamped before execution. His Lordship reserved this point.

Defendant's evidence was to the effect that he and the plaintiff were sworn brothers. Witness had a business of his own but after the strike, trade became bad and plaintiff joined him in partnership. He admitted giving the notes but said that the money was lent for the use of the firm.

The case was adjourned.

PROPERTY SALES.

WEATHER REPORT.

Yesterday's weather report, forecast and remarks, issued by the Royal Observatory at 5.00 p.m., stated:—

The anti-cyclone over the Yangtze Valley has weakened. Fresh to moderate monsoon may be expected along the S.E. coast of China and over the N. China Sea. Local Forecast:—N.E. winds, moderate, fine.

only has each place its own taal weight, but in some provinces it is found that several standards are maintained simultaneously. Should the taal weight be the same on any given day in any two centres, it would be mere coincidence, and not a sign of stability.

All this, of course, is not new to the experienced China hand, and Mr. SPALDING does not set out to teach men engaged in Eastern trade their business. The references in his book to the special problems arising in a country with an unstable silver exchange are merely incidental but very necessary chapters for students of the general subject. To say that this book is as interesting as a novel is no exaggeration; it is much more interesting than many works of fiction, for the author has a very happy knack of explaining technicalities in an attractive and forcible way. The apparent difficulty of understanding the riddle of foreign exchange has attributes very largely to the fact that people do not attempt to study the matter in a workmanlike and systematic manner. Consequently, the author starts his task by putting himself in the position of a person with no previous knowledge of the subject, and then proceeds to explain and demonstrate the various divisions step by step. He treats the familiar documentary substitutes for money as a commodity, controlled by the same laws of supply and demand which govern any other commodity. Bankers make it part of their business to engage in buying and selling this "commodity," and the curious reader may learn from this book how the mature operator is able to oblige two clients simultaneously by the process of "marrying," where the banker neither takes any risk nor ties up a penny of his funds!

STRONG FEELING IN HANKOW.*PRETEXT OF COOLIE'S DEATH.THREE DEMANDS FROM JAPAN.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HANKOW, Jan. 9th. Anti-Japanese feeling here is running high. Trouble is considered likely as the result of the death of a coolie who was knocked down by a Japanese motor cyclist and died a few hours later.

The Foreign Affairs Office this morning publishes in the foreign press a statement declaring that independent medical testimony asserts that the coolie's death was the direct result of the accident, in spite of the fact that the Japanese doctors reported otherwise.

The statement goes on to say that three demands have been presented to the Japanese authorities, namely, compensation to the extent of $3,000, the punishment of the marine and the withdrawal of Japanese marines from Hankow. To this the Japanese have vouchsafed no answer.

The statement concludes with the information that the Foreign Minister has sent a letter to the Japanese Consul saying that the untoward occurrences are the result of the Japanese attitude, and the Japanese authorities alone are held responsible.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)*Workers Called Out.*SHANGHAI, Jan. 9th.

In a message from Hankow it is reported that Chinese workers in the Japanese Concession have been called out and pickets will blockade the Concession. Public bodies are raising funds to support the strikers.

NANKING RAILWAY HOLD UP.*WELL PLANNED COUP.*FULLER DETAILS.

A Reuter message from Nanking gives fuller details of the holding up and robbing of a train between Shanghai and Nanking. The message in the main substantiates the Chinese cable which was printed yesterday.

A Shanghai-Nanking Railway train was held up and robbed last night at 9 o'clock at Yinhumen Station, ten minutes from Hsia-kwan.

Thirty bandits descended on the station, some holding up the stationmaster and guards while the remainder went through the passengers, taking more than two hours. The train eventually arrived at Nanking at midnight. A garrison force was immediately ordered out, but so far no arrests have been made.

Pay-Train.

The train that the bandits held up was the usual monthly Shanghai-Nanking Railway staff pay-train. They robbed the paymaster of $10,000, which was apparently the motive of the robbery, and then ransacked the belongings of approximately 1,500 Chinese passengers of the coolie class with the poorest results.

The outrage was well planned. The robbers were armed with automatics, while two carried Thompson automatic rifles. Four bandits boarded the locomotive and threatened the engine driver and fireman, while two cut the Shanghai-Nanking telegraph and telephone wire. The bandits made off northwards and it is believed that they crossed over the Yangtze river to evade pursuit.

MANCHURIA'S RAILWAYS.*(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)*SHANGHAI, Jan. 9th.

Mr. Yu Tan Chek, representative of the Society for the Restoration of Manchurian Railway Rights, petitioned the Nanking Government yesterday morning to take up the problem of Manchurian railways with Japan. According to his statement, the aim of the Japanese Government is to seize every possible opportunity to gain the right of railway construction in Manchuria. He urges that it is high time that the Central Government should issue a warning to her and at the same time take effective steps to raise funds for the immediate construction of intended lines, like the line between Hainan and Hailin, which is now needed to protect the interests of the railways in Kirin and Heilungkiang. All secret treaties formerly concluded between the defunct Peking Government and Japan, in which considerable concessions were made to the latter, should be declared null and void.

JAPAN'S TRADE FIGURES.*INCREASED BUSINESS WITH CHINA.INEFFECTUAL BOYCOTT.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TOKYO, Jan. 9th. Exports for last year totalled 1,971,000,000 yen, and imports 2,192,000,000 yen, compared with 1,969,000,000 yen and 2,177,000,000 yen in 1927.

Despite the boycott the China trade shows a considerable increase, exports to China being 530,000,000 yen and imports 375,000,000 yen, compared with 484,000,000 yen and 332,000,000 yen in 1927.

JAPANESE FARMERS DISSATISFIED.SERIOUS CLASH WITH POLICE.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*OSAKA, Jan. 9th.

Trouble has arisen in the Gifu Prefecture in connection with the irrigation dam on the Sainokawa River, affecting a large farming area. The heads of the villages addressed a petition on this subject to the Governor of the Prefecture, but failed to gain their point. As a result a mass meeting was held yesterday and thousands of villagers of the Namori village clashed with the police, when forty casualties were suffered. The Governor has requested that troops be despatched from Tsuruga to Namori.

LATER.

The tension at Gifu has been relieved somewhat, both sides adopting a more conciliatory attitude. Seventy gendarmes have arrived on the scene, but though the crowds have not dispersed there has been no rioting.

AIR SERVICES.*(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)*SHANGHAI, Jan. 9th.

Mr. Sun Fo, the Chief of the Railway Department, proposed at a regular meeting of the Executive Yuan that all agreements and contracts formerly concluded by provincial governments or any local authorities with foreign governments or private firms for the establishment of air services or loans for this purpose should be recognised by the Central Government as valid in order to facilitate development along this line.

The proposal was adopted by the meeting.

DISARMAMENT.*(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)*SHANGHAI, Jan. 9th.

At yesterday's session of the Disarmament Conference at Nanking, several reports and resolutions were read and discussed. Reports on the numerical strength, armaments and expenses of maintenance of the respective army groups (that is, the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Army Groups, the Manchurian Army and the Navy) were also read.

TARIFF TREATIES.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*NANKING, Jan. 9th.

The Central Political Council has ratified six new tariff treaties, the British, French, German, Dutch, Norwegian, and Swedish, while three others, the Danish, Spanish and Portuguese have been referred to the foreign relations committee for examination.

WITHDRAWAL OF U.S. MARINES.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*TIENTSIN, Jan. 9th.

The first batch of 450 United States Marines to be withdrawn from Tientsin embarked for Tsingtao at noon, where they will embark on the transport Henderson. After their disembarkation at Shanghai the transport will return to Tientsin to pick up the remaining 300 and will then proceed to Guam and the United States.

ITALIAN SAILORS IN BRAWL.*FILM STOLEN AND BURNED.ROWDY SHANGHAI INCIDENT.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*SHANGHAI, Jan. 9th.

This evening three Italian sailors entered the Capitol Theatre where the film "The Street Angel" was being shown (which film Mussolini recently banned from Italy). They bought tickets but then went to the projection room, two of them producing automatics and one a knife. They seized the first reel which had just been run off and rushed from the theatre to the street. Fifty of their comrades were awaiting them there and they burned the film amid shouting and excitement.

The sailors then went to the Carlton Theatre where the same picture was being shown, but the police had been warned and prevented any further trouble.

POLITICAL SPEECHES RELAYED.BALDWIN SPEAKS TO EIGHT TOWNS.[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]*RUGBY, Jan. 9th.

A new scheme of speech transmission will be put into use when Mr. Neville Chamberlain addresses a meeting at Liverpool on Friday week. His speech will be heard at the same time by audiences at Birkenhead, Southport and Widnes.

Plans are in preparation for relaying other important political speeches by members of the Government and arrangements have been made for a speech to be made in the early spring at Bristol by the Prime Minister, which will be relayed to seven other towns.

The Liberal party have already adopted this relay system with success, but on a somewhat smaller scale, in connection with speeches by Mr. Lloyd George.

DE HAVILLAND'S WORLD RECORD.PILOT'S WIFE AS PASSENGER.[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]*RUGBY, Jan. 9th.

The Fédération Aéronautique Internationale has notified the Royal Aero Club of the granting of a world's record to Alan Butler, the chairman of the De Havilland Aircraft Company, who on December 7th on a one-hundred kilometre course accomplished a speed of 192.864 kilometres per hour on a De Havilland Gipsy Moth. The record is in the two-seater class for light aeroplanes, and Mrs. Butler was the passenger.

MEN LEAVING THE COAL-FIELDS.WORK OF EMPLOYMENT EXCHANGES.[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]*RUGBY, Jan. 9th.

Sir John Cadman, member of the Industrial Transference Board, states that by means of the employment exchanges nearly seven hundred men, boys and girls were being moved away from the coalfields every week to other employment in other places. Three or four hundred more were moving on their own initiative.

Since the end of August nearly ten thousand people had been moved by means of the exchanges and with a few exceptions were settling down to other work.

SPANISH PETROLEUM MONOPOLY.SHELL INSTALLATIONS BOUGHT.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*MADRID, Jan. 9th.

A contract has been signed under which all the Shell group's petroleum installations in Spain will be taken over by a Spanish petroleum monopoly against payment of £110,000.

MR. A. H. F. EDWARDS' SUCCESSOR.NEW INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF CUSTOMS.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*SHANGHAI, Jan. 8th.

A message from Nanking states that the Administrative Yuan yesterday afternoon decided to accept the resignation of Mr. A. H. F. Edwards, as Inspector-General of the Maritime Customs.

Mr. F. W. Muz, Commissioner in Shanghai, has been appointed Inspector-General in place of Mr. Edwards.

KING'S CONDITION UNCHANGED.*HOPEFULNESS AT THE PALACE.POSITION SATISFACTORY.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*LONDON, Jan. 9th.

The King passed a fair night and his condition is unchanged.

Although no improvement in the King's condition has been noted since Sunday, Reuter understands that the position is still regarded as satisfactory, and the air of hopefulness which has prevailed at the Palace for a couple of days is still unchanged.

It is thought that the reduction of the number of bulletins to one, issued at night, will become the usual procedure, and this is taken as proof of growing confidence on the part of the doctors that His Majesty's condition is now less liable to setbacks than hitherto.

A Quiet Day.

No bulletin was issued until 5.15 p.m. on Tuesday, when the following notice was exhibited on the railing of the Palace:—

"The King has had a quiet day. The condition of His Majesty remains unchanged. No bulletin will be issued until to-morrow evening."

(Signed) Stanley Hewitt, Dawson of Penn.

With the exception of Christmas Day and Boxing Day this is the first week-day on which no bulletin has been issued in the morning. It is taken as a good sign.

Only two doctors, Lord Dawson and Sir Stanley Hewitt, were at the Palace to-night and a definitely more hopeful air now prevails.

Japanese Visit Postponed.

It is authoritatively stated that until the King has recovered, nothing definite will be decided regarding the fulfilment by the Duke of Gloucester of his proposed visit to Japan to hand to the Emperor the insignia of the Order of the Garter, bestowed on him by the King.

PLANE'S CRASH INTO THE SEA.FATAL TRIAL FLIGHT.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*St. RAPHAEL, Jan. 9th.

A three motored seaplane which was undergoing tests here, crashed from a height of 300 feet four miles out to sea. The five officers who were occupants of the machine were drowned.

HAVANA SHIPPING WARE."PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT" BREAKS THE RECORD."CARONIA" LEFT BEHIND.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*HAVANA, Jan. 9th.

The President Roosevelt beat the Caronia, by eight hours on the passage from New York to Havana. Although the Roosevelt's captain disclaimed any intention of racing, the vessel attained a speed of twenty knots for the last twelve hours and created a record for the trip to Havana.

FRENCH CHEMICAL COMPANY.*CLAIM TO IMMUNITY REJECTED.AMERICAN COURT'S DECISION.[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]*NEW YORK, Jan. 8th.

After protracted legal argument in the American courts, a decision unfavourable to the French Government has been given in the Federal Court in connection with the important action instituted by the Department of Justice in 1927 against French and German chemical concerns.

It was alleged by the American Government that these firms had been formed for the sole purpose of gaining control of the distribution and the price of potash.

When the case was first brought up, nearly two years ago, the French Government intervened on the ground that the French company concerned was largely owned by the French Republic, and that it was, therefore, immune from legal proceedings.

The Federal Court has now rejected the claim of the French Government in this respect and has decided that the case, as originally instituted, must proceed.

REJOICING IN HOLLAND.*QUEEN MOTHER'S JUBILEE.THE NATION'S THANKS.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*THE HAGUE, Jan. 9th.

In honour of the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival of the Queen Mother in Holland, Queen Wilhelmina gave a great gala dinner at which all the highest authorities in the country were present.

Her Majesty, in her speech addressed to her mother, declared that she knew she was interpreting the wishes of the whole nation in thanking her for what she had done for the nation during the last fifty years. When she was head of the Government she had won the confidence of the nation by her wisdom. The Queen expressed the hope that God would grant the Queen Mother many happy years yet.

Women's Gift.

The Queen Mother, ever since this day fifty years ago, the day of her wedding to King William III. of the Netherlands, has held the loyalty and love of her people. An illustration of this feeling is that, to celebrate her Jubilee, the women of Holland and of the Dutch East Indies subscribed a sum of £24,000 which will be placed at the disposal of Her Majesty for philanthropic purposes.

SALVATION ARMY COUNCIL.SOLEMN PLEDGES OF SECRECY.[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]*RUGBY, Jan. 8th.

The first momentous meeting of the High Council of the Salvation Army was held at Sunbury-on-Thames to-day in most remarkable circumstances, a large force of police being on the scene, allowing no one to enter the grounds of Sunbury Court without a written permit.

The Council is drawn from all corners of the earth for the purpose of deciding whether General Bramwell Booth is physically fit in view of his illness to continue in leadership of the Army, and, incidentally, to consider the whole question of the control of the Army and its world-wide organisation and its funds amounting to £20,000,000.

It was an imposing gathering of sixty-three Commissioners from all parts of the globe, the sixty-fourth being absent through illness. All the delegates are pledged to secrecy. The challenge to the General's competence to continue in office has come from his sister, Commander Evangeline Booth, the head of the Salvation Army in the United States, who has made more than one demand for the reform of the autocratic control of the Army.

General Booth's daughter, General Bramwell Booth's daughter, Commissioner Catherine Booth, is his leading protagonist.

The aunt and niece were the principal figures at the Council meeting, information concerning which is being given out by means of official communiques.

One of these communiques states that the preliminary proceedings were conducted by Commissioner E. J. Higgins, the Chief of Staff, and that the Council had elected Commissioner Hay of New Zealand as its President.

A message has been sent to General Booth by the High Council expressing love and sympathy. The General is remaining at Southwold, a small fishing village on the coast of Suffolk, where he has been staying ever since he was taken ill.

Proceedings Open.

The proceedings opened with a hymn and prayer, and after the choice for President of the gathering had fallen on Commissioner Hay, an adjournment was taken for the consideration of resolutions which are to be presented.

Commissioner Catherine Booth, the General's daughter, with some of the other delegates, left Sunbury Court for a small villa some little distance away to confer privately on the problems before the High Council.

When the Council reassembled, the same strict precautions were taken to ensure that no outsider should enter the place of the meeting.

What happened afterwards is not yet known, in the absence of any official announcement.

The Council in the evening adjourned until to-morrow. In the meantime, the delegates are not allowed to leave Sunbury Court.

EXPRESS DISASTER AT ASHCURCH.*THREE MORE DEATHS DISCOVERED.TERRIBLE WRECKAGE.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*LONDON, Jan. 8th.

A serious railway accident occurred in Gloucestershire late this evening, when a passenger express, travelling from Bristol to Nottingham, crashed into a goods train at high speed.

The accident occurred at Ashchurch, near Tewkesbury, within twenty miles of Chalfeld, where fifteen were killed and 30 injured in a collision in the middle of October.

The express was racing through fog at fifty miles an hour when it dashed into a goods train in a terrible head-on collision. The driver of the express was killed instantly, and two carriages on the train were overturned.

Rescue parties were quickly on the scene and fifteen injured passengers were saved from the debris. The bodies of three others were founded pinned by the wreckage.

Train Out in Two.*LATER.

In addition to four deaths it is now reported that 25 were injured in the collision. The express cut right through the goods train, which was shunting from the main line into a siding. The engine then almost buried itself in the ground, the coaches behind rearing up to a height of thirty feet above each other.

A hose pipe run from Ashchurch station extinguished the fire in the locomotive, but the water which ran over the wreckage froze, handicapping the rescuers whose efforts were also hampered by fog. This was so dense that the ambulance from Gloucester had to be piloted by a motor car.

PARLIAMENT'S TERM CLOSING.*DATE OF GENERAL ELECTION.IMPORTANT BUSINESS STILL IN HAND.[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]*RUGBY, Jan. 8th.

The date of the General Election, which must take place this year, as Parliament has entered the fifth and last year of its allotted span, is now the subject of general interest.

The new Register, with its addition of some five million women to the electorate, comes into force on May 1st, and it is anticipated that Parliament will be dissolved as soon after that date as possible.

The Budget has to be passed, and if the exigencies of other Parliamentary business permit, it is hoped in Government circles that the Dissolution may take place in the latter part of May. Friday, May 24th, is actually spoken of as a suitable date.

If this date were chosen, the General Election could take place on June 13th.

DUTCH RUBBER SCHEMES.*CIRCUMVENTING BRITISH MONOPOLY.ALLIANCE WITH AMERICA.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*LONDON, Jan. 8th.

Heer K. M. Kloppenburg is planning to pay a visit to the United States shortly in an attempt to secure support for the formation of an American-Dutch rubber trust company.

The aim of this company should the mission prove successful, will be to make the American consumer and the Dutch producer independent of the British rubber monopoly.

It will be recalled that Heer Kloppenburg last year submitted a revalorisation proposal to the British and Dutch Colonial Offices and the Governor-General of the Dutch East Indies.

The new move follows the refusal of the Governor-General to participate in the scheme outlined.

BATTLE RAGING NEAR KABUL.*REBELS GAINING GROUND.RUSSIANS SERVE THE ROYALISTS.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]*PESHAWAR, Jan. 9th.

A battle has been raging since last Monday ten miles from Kabul between the royalists and rebel forces commanded by Bachai Sakao.

Messages from Kabul confirm the resumption of hostilities in the vicinity of the capital. The rebels are attacking from the north west and apparently gaining ground.

Legation Reports.*LONDON, Jan. 8th.

Loyal Afghan troops are following up the rebel tribesmen according to an official telegram received by the Afghan Legation in London from Kabul.

Afghan artillery has resumed activities against the rebels in the Northern Provinces and has been bombarding their positions in the hills, eventually forcing a retirement further north.

The situation in Kabul and the other provinces is now rapidly returning to normal.

The Governor of Jelalabad Province is continuing negotiations with the Shinwaris, and the discussions seem likely to reach a successful conclusion.

A message from Peshawar announces the arrival of lorries and camel caravans from the Governor of Jelalabad, and this is taken as a definite indication that the roads are now safer. It is reported that Amanullah has agreed to abolish conscription, and to lift the ban on the entry of foreign mullahs.

Russian Pilots.

The part played by Russians in the Afghan situation is shown by the report of the death of two Russian pilots, one from wounds received while bombing the rebels and the other killed when an Afghan plane crashed at Kabul and was burnt to ashes. The observer, also a Russian, was injured.

UNEMPLOYMENT RETURNS.*[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]*RUGBY, Jan. 8th.

The Ministry of Labour announces that the number of unemployed on December 31st was 1,520,700.

This was 249,578 more than on December 17th.

Compared with a year ago, the increase was 184,387.

Telegrams in Brief.

The White Star Line announces that its headquarters will be removed from Liverpool to London. The change is merely executive and will take place during the next few months.

The latest monthly statement issued by Mr. Parker Gilbert, the Agent General for Reparations, shows that out of 922,000,000 gold marks paid by Germany under the Dawes Scheme for the year ended December 31st, the British Empire received 164,000,000, France 364,000,000, the United States 27,000,000 and Japan 3,000,000. The total transfers were 730,000,000 marks, leaving a cash balance of 202,000,000

INTERPORT TRIAL.

SELECTED TEAM v. ROYAL NAVY.

The Navy fielded a fairly strong team in the Interport Trial game on the H.K. F.C. ground but Baker, Barkham, Evans and Perks were among those absent.

Roche failed to turn up and for most of the game the team played ten men only. Au Kit Sang of the China Athletic coming out for the last fifteen minutes of the game. It took the forwards some time to settle down, owing to the rushing tactics of the Navy half-back line, ably led by Farlow. The Navy forwards played a dashing game, and Wynne and Lai Yuk Tat were not very safe. Kernick left the defence standing and tested Clarke. At the interval the score sheet was blank.

When the second half opened the Selected team inside forwards gave a good exhibition of the short passing game and soon had the Navy defence guessing. Suen scored with a cross shot and the Navy levelled up through Kernick. The Navy should have taken the lead but shooting was wild. Following good work by the inside forwards, Suen netted.

SMALL UNITS v. R.A.

At Sookunpoo yesterday Small Units again demonstrated their inability to score goals, and after having a fair share of the play in midfield, were compelled to admit defeat. The Gunners on the other hand made the most of the chances which came their way, and with Leach making a welcome reappearance in the forward line, the attack was crisp and incisive. An early corner to Small Units was beautifully taken by Basham, but Wilson missed with only Fletcher to beat. The Gunners went away on the left, and from the resulting centre Hill opened the scoring. After Fletcher had saved a header from Elliott, R.A. went through on the right wing, and Gill netted from Woods' centre.

Half-time: Small Units 0, R.A. 2.
On resuming Leach moved to the inside left position, and scored a characteristic goal within two minutes of the restart. Later a slip by the Small Units defence let in Cotton, who had no difficulty in finding the net. Leach had a great chance a moment later, but shot straight at Watson, who brought off a clever clearance. The closing stages were tame, neither side showing a great deal of constructive ability.

Result:—Small Units 0, R.A. 4.

Teams:—
Small Units: Watson, Smith, Dodson, Rial, Skinner, Grosvenor, Elliott, Sabin, Wilson, Coates and Basham.

R.A.: Fletcher, Oliver, Nellis, Taylor, Fuller, Joyce, Woods, Cotton, Gill, Hill and Leach.

CHINESE ATHLETIC v. P.W.D. (CHINESE).

Before a large crowd at Happy Valley, Athletic won an interesting game by four goals to two. The home team received a shock in the opening half, for, after taking the lead through Hin in Fai, they slackened off, and P.W.D. put on pressure to such good effect that they crossed over leading by two goals to one. Both the P.W.D. goals were scored by Chu Ping Leas, cancelled the match, South China claiming both points.

Smith scored two goals for the Club and C. C. Francis added the third goal. The centre forward and right inside, both Indian players, scored a goal each for the Regiment, the other goal being scored by one of the European officers.

POLICE v. HUNG KUI SCHOOL.

Police did not appear to take matters very seriously in their mid-week League engagement with Hung Kui School yesterday, and a very poor game was the result. The only goal scored, and which gave the Police full points, was obtained through Chun Yui Wing. There was little to choose between the two teams the Police forwards being all at sea near goal.

Result:—Police 1, Hung Kui School 0.

SOUTH CHINA v. LAM LONG WAN.

Lam Long Wan turned up with only six men for their mid-week League match at Caroline Hill yesterday. The start was delayed until 4.20, but no further players arrived, and the Referee, L/Cpl. Lees, cancelled the match, South China claiming both points.

INTERPORT TRIAL TEAM.

On Tuesday next, on Wednesday as previously notified, another trial game will be played. The following have been selected:—
Clarke; Wynne and Hooper; C. F. Remedios, McKelvie and Cantor; Cross, A. Gosano, Goldman, Suen Kum Shun and Roche.
Reserves:—Li Tin Sang, Hill and Brown.

THE PARAGUAY-BOLIVIA DISPUTE.

OVER THE BOUNDARY OF EL CHACO AREA.

A WILD COUNTRY OF GREAT POSSIBILITIES.

Writing on the recent troubles between Bolivia and Paraguay a London Times correspondent says: "The area in dispute is known as the Chaco. Reports have described that there was a 'sanguinary encounter' and that the Bolivians occupied Fort Boqueron, the Paraguayans retreating. But it should be understood that, though they are called forts and given names with military pomp and ceremony, most of these forts are no more than what we should call military outposts—hardly more than grass shelters against the heat or rain. Some of the Bolivian forts are fortified—more than of the Paraguayans, for only in the last six years or so has Paraguay taken to establishing these outposts, being forced to by the increasing aggressiveness of the Bolivian fort-building. It must also be understood that, when either side talks about its own or the other's territory, the expression is open to doubt, not only because of conflicting claims but also because each side is referring to a different boundary line as the basis—the dividing line of the dispute."

Ever since 1877 there have been attempts by the Governments to settle the question of the dividing line in the Chaco between Bolivia and Paraguay. In 1907 a boundary was agreed upon in Buenos Aires known as the Soller-Pinilla line, and was held generally to be the accepted boundary, but it was never surveyed nor ratified. In 1913 another conference in Asuncion another line known as the Ayala-Mujia was discussed and an agreement entered into that both Republics should maintain for the time being what each held in the Gran Chaco. Since that time Paraguay has complained that her neighbour was encroaching upon her territory and building forts; and to prevent further encroachments the erected check forts in her own territory.

The tension between the two Republics has been in evidence for many years, and caused grave fears in South America. Indeed, as far back as 1922 there were fears that Paraguay might become a second Belgium; and the good offices of Argentina last year, in attempting to bring the dispute to a definite conclusion may be taken as an indication of her anxiety in the dispute. As these two nations have been gradually advancing in prosperity during the last decade war between them would throw them back into the old position of which they have painfully struggled, and it is to be hoped that their more enlightened statesmen will pay attention to the letters they have received from the League of Nations and the communications they may have received from the neighbouring interested Republics.

The district known as El Chaco is an immense area of fertile land, portions of which belong to the Republics of Argentina, Bolivia, and Paraguay, and it is the portion claimed by Paraguay that is under dispute at the present time. The natural boundaries of El Chaco are the Rivers Parana and Paraguay on the east, and the River Pilcomayo, a tributary of the River Paraguay, which has its source in the Bolivian hills, flows in a southeasterly direction, and empties into the Paraguay a short distance below Asuncion the capital of the Republic of Paraguay, forming the boundary between Argentina, Paraguay, and Bolivia.

The aboriginal inhabitants of the Chaco Borealis are Indians, of which there are at least seven tribes, Lengua, Sanapaná, Chamacoco, Chanapi, Tothili, Pifaga, and Toba. Each tribe has its recognized territory, and each has its own distinct language. It is difficult to give with anything like accuracy the number of Indians in this district—they will not greatly exceed 50,000. In general appearance the Indian is of medium height, well proportioned, somewhat Mongolian in type (but there are great variations), with skin of a reddish chocolate colour—yet again various shades are encountered. They are hunters and fishermen, agriculture being followed to a limited extent; their implements for this art being most primitive, and their enemies in the form of locusts and ants most persistent. As the country produces natural vegetable food the need of agriculture is not pressing. The weapons of the Indian are the bow and arrows and a club, but in recent years he has adopted the shot-gun to hunt his game. In arts and crafts the man has little or nothing to show, his work is largely that of food provider, but the woman makes pottery in a primitive way by building up a vessel with successive layers of clay, preserving a fairly circular form in the process. Blanket-weaving and net-making also fall to the woman's share, and the patterns woven into these two articles are closely allied to the old Inca patterns in textiles. As each individual can make all that he or she needs there is no division of labour found in the tribes. Villages have a nominal chief, but few have any authority, and there is no head chief to the tribe. In the event of war, which is rather of the nature of tribal feuds than real war, the men of the villages are called together, and the chief considered the bravest assumes control. In religion all are animists, fearing spirits, worshipping no deity, and submitting themselves to their witch-doctors. Their dwellings are mere shelters of grass thrown upon a rough framework of small boughs. Scarcity of food or water and at times a death in the village precipitate that the village be abandoned, and under these conditions the erection of more stable dwellings cannot be expected.

Within the last 20 years great developments have taken place in the Paraguayan Chaco. The Paraguayan township of Villa Hayes has increased in size and importance, and a large and successful colony of agriculturists and cattle farmers is in the near vicinity. An English cattle company occupies, and is developing, an extensive area in the interior. A North American company for the exploitation of the quebracho extract has established a large factory at Puerto Pinasco on the river bank, and a township has developed round it.

A large area of the Chaco is well adapted for cattle raising, and ranchers are steadily improving their stock; the supply of quebracho is still plentiful. Open lands beyond the palm zone are more suitable for agriculture, but there are no signs of the possibility of irrigation, and the locust invasion is an annual event; whilst some of the back blocks, near the line of the present political trouble, are waterless and poor in value.

In the open grassland the Carandá palm is the most prominent tree and a most monotonous feature of the landscape, being found sometimes in small groups, but usually in extensive quantities forming veritable forests. Swamp lands are the haunt of the marsh deer, the carpincho, the tapir, the nutria, and innumerable water fowl and waders. On the open plains the reas, the Pampa deer, numerous armadillos, and at times the great ant-eater are encountered. The forests and their margins conceal the jaguar, the puma, the maned wolf, large troops of peccaries, brockets, and smaller wild cats. Of the numerous fishes found in streams and swamps the most interesting is the South American Lung fish, Lepidosiren paradoxa; the interest to zoologists being that the fish is a kind of connecting link between fishes and land animals. Bird life is abundant and very varied, the architecture of some of the nests being elaborate and strange. But exceeding all creatures in number and activity are the insects, year in and year out an ever-present plague.

EMPIRE DEVELOPMENT.

SCOPE FOR WORK BY CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

Mr. F. L. McDougall, speaking at the quarterly luncheon of the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce at Sheffield, said that what the Empire meant to Great Britain should be considered in two phases—firstly, what it meant now, and secondly, what it could mean in the immediate future. To-day prosperity was rapidly returning to the world after the post-war depression, but Great Britain was not obtaining her share. Within the Empire, however, Great Britain held 40 per cent. of import trade, against 10 per cent. of that of foreign countries. To-day India bought more British iron and steel than all South American and the Western European countries taken together. Of heavy iron and steel goods Australia bought twice as much as Argentina. The Empire bought five times more of British cutlery than did the foreign world; Australia bought more machinery than the whole of South America and double the value of electrical machinery.

After referring to the prospects of immediate developments in India, Nigeria, and Australia, Mr. McDougall said that the rapidity of Empire development was conditioned by the vigour of British co-operation. Such co-operation depended on vision and planning ahead. Politicians were of necessity forced to concern themselves mainly with the immediate present, and the same was largely true of individual business men; but surely the Chambers of Commerce should study the future prospects of British trade.

An Imperial conference was due in about a year's time. Should not the Chambers of Commerce, during the next twelve months, study the question of how Empire development could most rapidly improve British trade? Mr. McDougall emphasized that the support of a great volume of well-considered and influential industrial and commercial opinion would do more to stimulate Empire development than anything else that he could imagine.

SUPERANNUATION FOR MINERS.

MR. HENDERSON'S SUGGESTION TO THE GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, M.P., secretary of the Socialist Party, speaking at Pontypridd suggested that, instead of granting money for the immediate relief of distress, the Government should use its financial resources to provide superannuation allowances for the elderly miners, and grants to enable the school-leaving age to be raised, with maintenance for the young people thus kept out of the labour market. He hoped that the immediate relief of distress would be sufficiently provided by the generosity of the public.

Mr. Henderson also urged the need for assisting the migration of miners overseas. "I am confident," he said, "I am speaking the mind of the Labour Party and that of the Trade Union Congress in saying that they would be prepared to co-operate with the Government in an effort to find a solution of the more pressing problems and intolerable distresses of the coalfields along these lines."

DAILY WATERFRONT NEWS.

DUMPING RUBBISH IN THE HARBOUR.

BOAT PEOPLE FINED.

[BY LONGSHOREMAN.]

Kwok Kiu, mistress of a passenger sampan, and Lai Kum, the juki were before Commander G. F. Hole, at the Marine Court yesterday morning for dumping rubbish in the harbour without permission. The two defendants pleaded not guilty.

Evidence was given by the police officer who made the arrest to the effect that whilst on board, No. 8 Police Launch at 1 p.m. on December 9th he called defendant's sampan alongside for search. As the boat approached he saw the defendants throw something overboard.

The Chinese coxswain of the police launch also said that he saw several baskets on the sampan. One of the baskets—containing a bag of rice—was produced in Court and witness said it was one of the baskets which he had seen on the boat.

The first defendant said that the parcels belonged to three passengers, but the police had arrested her instead of the passengers. When the police searched the boat she submitted and the police found the bags of rice at the bottom of the sampan. They did not throw anything overboard.

The Magistrate registered a conviction and imposed a fine of $5 of each of the defendants, and ordered the rice to be returned to the owners.

A Very Dangerous Cargo.

In imposing a fine of $20 or three weeks' hard labour on a mistress of a passenger boat for carrying other than personal luggage on her passenger boat, the defendant was carrying 30 tons of kerosene. Commander Hole remarked that the defendant had no licence to carry cargo, and in addition she was carrying the most dangerous of all cargoes. He must treat it as a very serious case. The defendant pleaded guilty.

No Lights.

For failing to exhibit the usual regulation lights on his cargo boat, Wong Yee Fan, the master, was fined $5 or 5 days' hard labour.

Chinese Passenger Commits Suicide.

While the s.s. Sui An, of the Hong Kong, Canton and Macao Steamboat Company was on her way to Macao on Tuesday morning a Chinese passenger jumped overboard and was not seen again. The passenger jumped from the ship at 9.30 a.m., an hour and a half after the vessel had left the Wing Lok Street wharf when she was passing Brothers Point.
